DENTAL CLEANING AND POLISHING RELEASE FORM

- Dental care is a very important part of your pet's well being. Dental disease can lead to bacterial infections that will damage the heart, liver, etc. These type of infections can be prevented through having your pet's teeth cleaned, which is why you are here today.
- Your pet's teeth have been examined prior to today by one of our veterinarians or registered technicians. While under anesthesia, a complete oral exam will be performed prior to starting the dental cleaning. It is only during this time that your veterinarian will be able to determine if any extractions are necessary. Please note that extractions are an additional charge to the cost of the dental cleaning.
- Please check one of the following boxes to give or deny your permission to perform tooth extractions that may be deemed necessary.

_____ I give permission for tooth extractions to be performed without being contacted first.

_____ Please call first prior to performing any tooth extractions. *I understand that if I require a phone call prior to extractions and am unable to be contacted, no teeth will be extracted, and this procedure will have to be performed at a later date. Phone # (1) _____ Phone # (2) _____

_____ I do not give permission for any tooth extractions to be performed.
